

Out women artists offer soul and more

Wed, 06/27/2007 - 11:11 — wgolden

Musical activists Pat Humphries and Sandy O of Emma's Revolution have returned with "Roots, Rock & Revolution" (emmasrevolution.com), which lives up to its title with songs that speak out against corporate greed ("Who Lies"), environmental abuses ("Living Planet," "Silent No Longer"), political corruption ("Silence & Lies," "Vote") and even root around in their own earlier compositions to rerecord "Swimming to the Other Side" and "Keep on Moving Forward," making this an album that is bound to stir up activist tendencies in all who listen.

Gregg Shapiro
© Copyright 2007 Rainbow Media